

Dr. Manuel Carballo, Committee Member

Dr. Manuel Carballo joined the Committee of the Geneva Social Observatory in 2008. He is the Executive Director of the International Centre for Migration and Health, Geneva and Professor of Clinical Population and Family Health at Columbia University's Heilbrunn Department of Population and Family Health in New York, USA.

Manuel is an expert in psychosocial health, maternal and child health, HIV/AIDS, and public health in complex emergencies and forced migration. He is an epidemiologist and is former Chief of Social and Behavioral Research at the Global Program on AIDS and former Public Health Advisor for Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The International Centre for Migration and Health, and international research and training NGO that has been designated a World Health Organization as a collaborating centre for health-related aspects of people displaced by disaster.